THE HOURGLASS

OF

1961

THIS IS THE

HOURGLASS . . .

Dedicated to . . .

We, the members of the Class of 1961 of Wilmington High School, deem it a distinct honor and singular privilege to dedicate this edition of the HOURGLASS to Miss Laura N. Marland, Head of the English Department. It seems fitting that one who has contributed over 40 years of her life to the educational welfare of the Town of Wilmington be accorded a measure of recognition and a vote of thanks which she has so long merited. It is hoped that her experience and counsel may be available to the students of Wilmington for many years to come.

We the Seniors, Members of the Class of 1961 . . .

LEAVING THE HALLS OF WILMINGTON HIGH SCHOOL, CAN LOOK BACK WITH PLEASURE UPON MANY FOND MEMORIES OF . . .

Learning . . .

Creating . . .

Exploring . . .

Participating . . .

Fulfilling . . .

The days that make us happy make us wise.

June 12, 1961

Congratulations to the Class of 1961! Your accomplishments during the past four years have been many and varied, indicative of even greater successes to come as each of you pursue your individual goals in the four corners of the world.

The members of the School Committee join with me in extending to all of you our best wishes and Godspeed.

Harold S. Shea

HAROLD S. SHEA

Congratulations to you, the members of the Class of 1961. Your progress and achievements over your four-year tenure in both curricular and extracurricular activities have been excellent. You have earned the title of the "Can Do" Class.

May that spirit which you have developed stay with you and broaden, so that your endeavors, individually and collectively, may be crowned with success.

Bernard P. McMahon

BERNARD P. MCMAHON

This has been a year of accomplishment in many areas of the world. It, too, has been a year of fulfillment for you, the members of the Class of '61.

This year has seen the flight of the first man into space and it also marks the year of your flight into the world around you, be it into the work-a-day world or into further education.

May your successes be many and your hardships be few, if any!

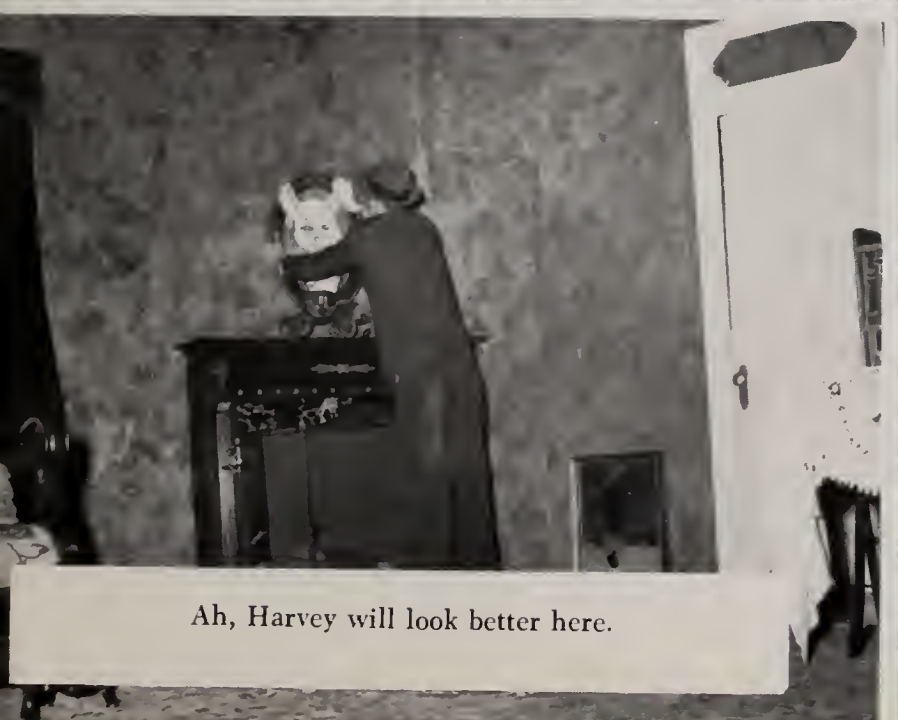
And you know what else, Myrtle Mae?



Ah, Harvey will look better here.

. . . and the four of us will spend a happy evening together.

Out of the hustle and bustle of one week of frenetic effort, the "Moonlight Cotillion," our Senior Prom, was held on May 19th. The gym was transformed into "Magnolia Manor" for the occasion. We danced to the music of Jack Hennessey's orchestra on the "lawn" and tables were set up cabaret-style on the "patio." The patio, decorated in soft pastels, blended with the midnight blue and dark green decor of the lawn. A low railing gaily decorated with flowers enclosed the patio while a sixty-foot mural adorned the far wall.

Fay Waterman reigned as queen of the evening and was attended by a court of six lovely ladies — Maureen Charron, Dorothy DeGrasse, Barbara Gurski, Joan McCormick, Mary Quandt, and Barbara Sullivan. A catered turkey dinner proved a fitting climax to a truly memorable evening.

Although its 2-6-1 record seems unimpressive, the W. H. S. football squad was nobody's patsy as Lynnfield and North Reading will attest. The ten seniors on the squad, led by Captain Eddie Casey, bulwarked a stout defense which caused most team fits as they gave ground grudgingly throughout the season. The last four games saw the offense come to life. The season was climaxed by a real whing-ding of a victory over our arch-rival, Tewksbury, on Thanksgiving Day.

Marion Halpin and Elaine Sullivan paced the scorers as Wilmington produced a strong field hockey team, finishing with a 5 - 2 - 1 record. Victories were earned at the expense of Woburn (2), North Andover, Chelmsford, and Bedford, while the losses occurred against powerful teams from Lynnfield and Billerica. The second Chelmsford encounter ended in a 2 - 2 stalemate. The Jayvees posted an impressive 4 - 1 - 3 record.

FIELD HOCKEY—SENIOR GIRLS

CROSS COUNTRY

First Row: Barry Laurin, Dixon Knight, Captain Philip Sweet, Alan Ford, John Boeri.

Captained by Phil Sweet, the W. H. S. cross-country team was victorious in three of seven dual meets. Dixon and Ronnie Knight finished 1-2 against every team except Dracut, and proved the best combination in the area. Billerica again turned out to be a tough nut to crack, although an inspired effort by the Wilmington harriers fell just shy as Billerica won both outings.

The boys placed second in the Lowell-Suburban Conference Meet and 11th in the 24 team Class D section of the State Meet. Ron Knight was about 15th in state-wide competition while Dixon was not much further behind.

HOCKEY

The Wilmington High hoopsters won six and dropped ten this year. Four inexperienced players joined Co-Captain Don Bailey and lost some tough ones in a trying schedule. Co-Captain Jim Melzar, Joe Beaton, Eddie Casey and Jon Fairfield rounded out the starting five. Besides the six official victories the boys also toppled the Alumni and the Faculty. Don Bailey and Joe Beaton were Lowell Suburban All-Stars.

The Girls' basketball team, coached by Miss McCarthy, broken even over a sixteen-game season. In the most exciting game of the year Esther Corum scored with seconds remaining to lead Wilmington to a 32-31 victory over Tewksbury. High scorers for the year were the Co-Captains Marion Halpin (161 points) and Loretta Dawson (160 points). Loretta Dawson and Eleanor Kemp were chosen to represent Wilmington in the League All-Star game, while Marion Halpin was one of last year's representatives.

The Junior Varsity under Coach Dadoly finished its season with a record of 4 wins, 7 losses, and 1 tie.

The members of this team were Peggy Montague, Esther Corum, Judy Halpin, Cheryl Bennett, Cathy Bousfield, Mary Arfuedson, Cynthia Parella, Jean Laffin, Lucille Huston, Linda Berry, Janet Duggan, Carol Averle, Gail McCormack, and Martha Zaverson.

TRACK TEAM — SENIORS
First Row: Jon Meads, Greg Phillips, Dave Huston, Frank Munroe.

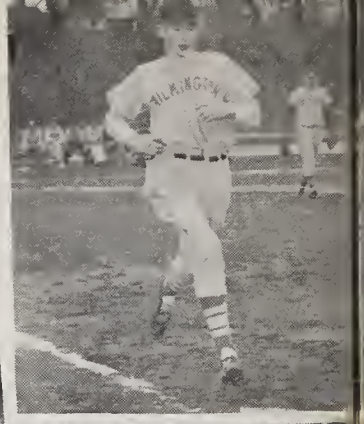
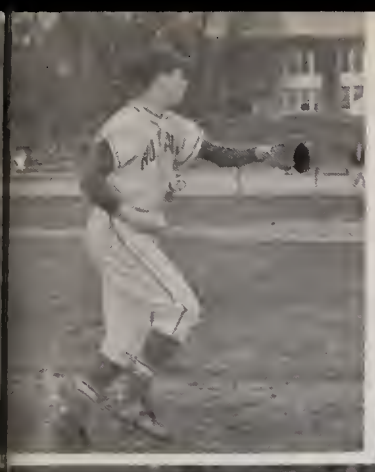
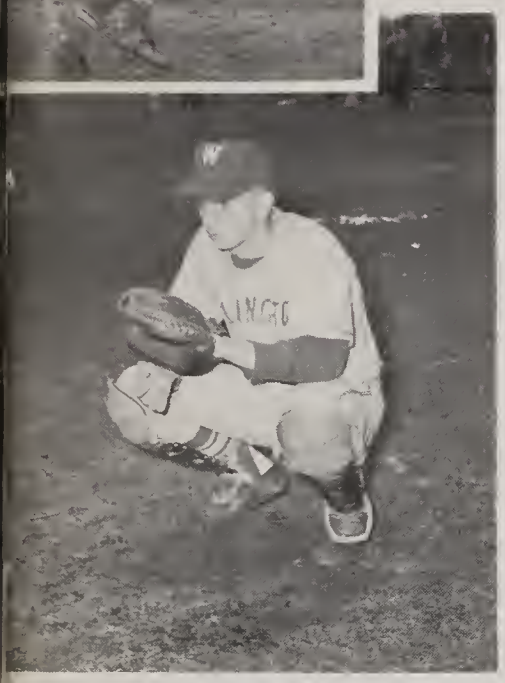
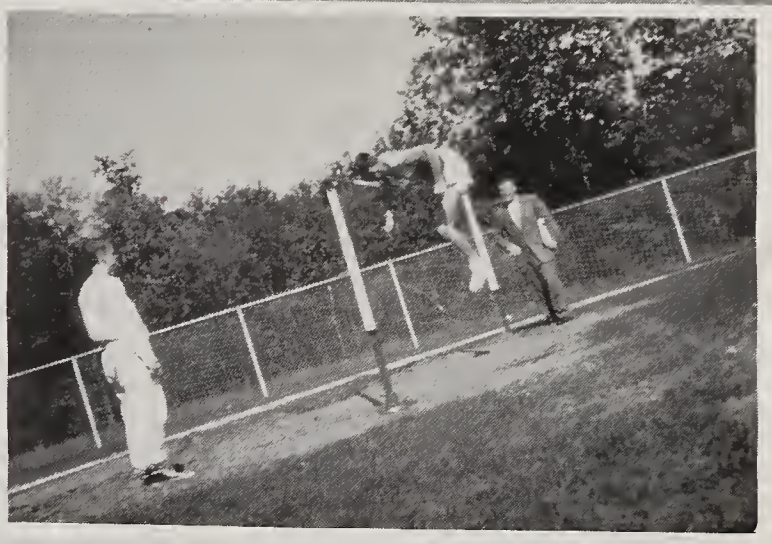
The track team's 5-3 record could very easily have been seven wins and one loss except for defeats in the relay, the last event on the program, in the North Andover and Billerica meets. North Andover managed to salvage a practically unheard of two-thirds of a point victory in the initial meet of the season. Co-Captain Dixon Knight had a banner year, winning all his 880s in dual meet competition. He ran a terrific race to place third in the State Meet against the best in his division. Loyd Carney, Jon Fairfield, Co-Captain Frank Munroe, George Szadis and Greg Phillips all scored well against Lowell Suburban opposition.









SOFTBALL

Second Row: Coach A. McCarthy, A. Perry, E. Corum, N. Slater, D. Burns, P. Montague, B. Flight, G. McCormack, M. Zaverson, J. Halpin, L. Berry, N. Kemp, M. Arfuedson.

The Softball Team finished its season on the plus side of the ledger as indicated by a 4 wins, 3 loss record. Woburn was defeated twice, while North Andover and North Reading each fell once. Tewksbury proved too strong for the Wilmington lassies, taking both encounters and North Reading gained a split in the series to account for the other loss. With only two seniors graduating, Coach McCarthy can look forward to a strong squad returning for the 1962 season.

The Lowell Suburban Baseball Championship came to Wilmington High for the first time this year. Coach Gilligan's nine picked up ten wins against three defeats for the loop's best performance. A thrilling playoff triumph over Dracut before five hundred cheering fans completed the league schedule. Wilmington swamped Swampscott 16-5 and lost a heartbreaker 5-3 to a strong Woburn team which eventually went on to capture the Class B state championship. Ricky Froton and Jeff Williamson handled the pitching chores, as Co-Captain Joe Beaton, Ed Casey, and Kevin Field supplied the major portion of the hitting. Excellent fielding on the part of Jim Melzar and Co-Captain Rick Damelio contributed greatly to the team's success.

Our Challenge: Peace
Our Weapon: Decision

ANNE MARIE VOLPE

Valedictorian

Today, the graduating Class of 1961, which twelve years ago came here to learn, is about to go forth to serve its community and its nation in one of the most turbulent, conflicting eras of all time.

The minds of a once confused group of children have matured and developed into a talented, alert, societal group, sharing the common desire for peace and security in a troubled world and equally possessing the right to live in such a world.

We are stepping forth into an era in which we must defend the same principle that our forefathers defended, that life is not worth living without liberty. Our founding fathers discovered what liberty is worth the hard way through personal experience with tyrannical governments. It is hoped that we may not have to learn about liberty in the same hard school of experience.

If we want to keep our priceless liberties, we must first try to understand what we mean when we say that we are free. Liberty is something that we share with other people; it is a way of living with other people.

Democracy is an attitude toward people, a kind of respect for all people regardless of wealth, position, ancestry, color, or race. It is necessary for us to respect the rights of others and in working out our rules of justice and fair play, we must apply the rule of equality. By equality we do not mean that all people are alike or are equally strong or good or wise, but that they are equally human. When we say we believe in equality, we mean that we intend to try to understand the needs of all people, even if they are so humble that they are very easily overlooked. Everybody is important in a democracy, because democracy is based on the belief that the people care about the welfare of the community and the nation.

We need liberty to find out what is good and what is just. Democracy is an ideal, and we must never become satisfied with only past accomplishments, for the work of democracy is never finished.

We are not all wise and because this is true, it is very important that we should be willing to listen to people who criticize us or disagree with us. Often times a democracy works best when people are not too sure when they are right. This doubt leaves room for improvement.

One of our most priceless rights is the right to have differences of opinion and to discuss these differences freely and fully, but the right to say what we think means also that we have a duty to listen courteously to what other people say. A courteous way of talking over our disagreements with others is one of the greatest democratic virtues.

Let us, therefore, assert that upon our shoulders and upon the shoulders of all future graduating classes rests the obligation to secure these goals. In so doing, we shall be striving toward the common goal of establishing a world devoid of fear and based upon peace and brotherhood.

Our foundation have been fashioned well during the past twelve years of learning, and these foundations will be our guide, our strength, and our aid as we embark upon this new era in our lives called DECISION.

Decision is a task that will confront us always and the past resolutions will seem minute compared to the seemingly great obligations and duties which we must face in the future. Let us therefore resolve here and now that we shall meet these momentous decisions with confidence, sincerity, and responsibility; recognizing both our limitations and capabilities, so that our parents, teachers, and friends may witness, by our deeds, that we are capable of Decisions. The tomorrows will be ours to mold into the forms that we have imagined. We have at our finger tips a massive struggling world in all its untamed glory. It is ours to explore and enjoy, but most important of all, it is ours to conquer and improve.

Omnia Vincit Amor
(Love Conquers All)

Carol Schiavone, Salutatorian

Members of the School Committee, Mr. Shea, Mr. McMahon, parents, Reverend Clergy, Fellow Classmates, and invited guests.

As we gather here today, members of a proud community, a progressing nation and a massive world, we are all possessed with great hopes and dreams for the future. My fellow classmates and I are justifiably elated, for this is indeed a proud day in our lives. We have successfully completed our twelve years of basic training, under the watchful eyes of our teachers, advisors, and parents. And now, armed with knowledge, and filled with the zest and enthusiasm of youth, we stand at the brink of life prepared to plunge ourselves heart and soul into an uncertain world — a world over which an ominous cloud is cast. This cloud symbolizes the hatreds, the conflagrations, the murders, the violences, of man's history — in simpler words, an utter absence of love!

What has become of love in the world today? Against the frail physical constitution of man has been hurled the deadliest weapon yet devised in the annals of history — man's inhumanity to man!

The inventor of this weapon? Man!

The components of this weapon? Avarice, greed, prejudice, hate, conquest, and destruction!

The victim of this attack? Man!

The controller of this weapon? Man!

The hands of man are smeared with the blood of his brother; the earth has become a family slaughterhouse!

No, this is no exaggeration. Need we have more proof than the holocaust ended just sixteen years ago, World War II? (or rather, it might be more aptly labeled, "Man's Second Attempt to Annihilate Himself.") Can we close our eyes and shut our minds to the casualty lists of eighty million dead, thirty-five million wounded and eight million missing?

And now, under the guise of science, progress, and defense, rockets ricochet from the earth to nowhere, guided missiles are unleashed, bombs are being perfected — and these are the lauded accomplishments of the day.

And who are our enemies? Against whom are these precautions being taken? They are, as we are, created in God's image, endowed with souls — they, too, thrill to the sound of beautiful music; they, too, gaze in wonder at the heavens; their hearts swell with the ebb and flow of a mighty ocean; they feel the peace that pervades the soul upon seeing a lazy river winding through a quiet countryside; they, too, feel humble and small before the height and majesty of a towering mountain. These are people as we are. The common bonds we do have, our emotions, our feelings, and our souls, are the only roads to understanding and peace.

Before He was crucified, Jesus gave His disciples this guiding principle: "This is my commandment, that ye love one another, as I have loved you." Love one another, ponder upon it, love one another. Hate only begets hate, but love alone has the healing power. Love is the only vehicle that can travel the road of the soul to the hearts of our enemies.

Let us deliberate. We have seen the results of hate and force — might we not conquer the world by love?

Cultural Revival

ROSE DUKUS, Essayist

If we take a close look at the situation in America today, we can see that it needs vast improvement. We seem to have become a nation of statistics — numbers with no faces. There will soon be computors with a phenomenal capacity to remember and analyze data. Computors will digest business problems and offer various alternatives for their solution. Automated machinery, using electronics as its brain and hands, will take over much of the manual work done in factories. But what is happening to the human factor? It is being eliminated.

When we graduate the working force will be increased by 1,000,000! This month alone, unemployment has gone over 6,000,000! But these numbers do have faces. They are individuals.

One is not against progress. Progress has carried jet planes across the country in five hours. Progress has developed miracle drugs, tranquilizers, heart surgery, painless dental drills, Salk vaccine and endless other achievements! Progress has put the atom to work lighting thousands of homes. Progress has placed us at the doorstep of space.

But what of culture? Can these computors come up with a Declaration of Independence or Gettysburg Address? We are still learning from ideas expressed and written centuries before us. The intellectual monuments to man's genius are the only things that have lasted through time. Great cities have fallen and are now part of the dust, but through the falling of cities and the passing of generations the Bible has endured, which is studied today and shall continue to be studied for many centuries to come. We are still moved by the epic grandeur of the Homeric Poems — The Iliad and the Odyssey. We can still study the Egypt of 25 centuries ago through the works of Herodotus. The Shakespearean plays offer as much pleasure today as they did when they were first performed in the Globe Theater. We still discuss the philosophies of Plato and Socrates. Each day is filled with the beauty of music given to us by Bach, Beethoven, and Wagner. The works of Botticelli, Michelangelo, Raphael, and Titian are still gazed upon in admiration. The libraries and museums are filled with great works that have remained the same with all these great changes in their midst.

Let the already existing ideas bring forth greater inventions from you. We must make life fuller with our new ideas. Don't be discouraged by mistakes. Your mistakes, once made, will benefit those who have not yet ventured. Fear not criticism; it is the partner of both success and failure. It is this fear of criticism that often causes a valued word to remain unspoken; a beautiful song to remain unsung; or a masterpiece to remain unpainted.

Our ancestors thought for thousands of years. They developed immense religious systems. Political rules were established. They learned how to put life on canvas. They registered fables and myths, legends and records. They left us a countless heritage of music. They set the pattern of intellectual perfection which has given us our culture.

And now we, of the twentieth century, must also leave behind some wisdom for future generations, that civilization may advance toward that age-old dream of individual self-perfection. Let us be ever conscious of this goal so that every yesterday is a dream of happiness and every tomorrow, a vision of hope. Let us leave such a legacy of peace and perfection to the world that forever more "our sons and our daughters shall prophecy, and our old men shall see visions, and our young men shall dream dreams."

History of the Class of 1961

Claire E. Graham

The nearness of graduation not only propels our thoughts into the future but also causes us to reflect on the events, the fun, and the struggles of the past four years.

Our entrance into the high school as Freshmen on Wednesday, September 4, 1957 was unprepossessing. The different courses and the maze of long corridors confused us, and the unfunny remarks of the supercilious upperclassmen made us very aware of our low standing. We survived, however, and soon began our activities as a class.

Although many of us immediately wanted to resign from the class upon hearing that dues would be a necessary evil, our class constitution was finally drawn up and adopted. We held our first election of officers with Mercedes Strow, president; Arthur Hall, vice president; Barbara Lynch, secretary; and Diana Imbimbo, treasurer. Our Student Council members were George Szadis and Robert Gage.

One of the outstanding events of our Freshman year was the dedication of the new athletic field behind the high school on Veterans' Day.

St. Patrick's Day will always be remembered for the "Carnation Caper" in which several of the more fiendish inmates of Miss Frotten's home room stealthily stole Mr. Sullivan's green carnation and demanded for ransom the return of the orange scarf which Mr. Sullivan had unchivalrously purloined from Miss Frotten. She got back a wrinkled scarf and he a slightly wilted carnation.

Our Freshman year closed with the Seniors voting Dorothy DeGrasse and Arthur Hall as the most popular members of our class.

Our ambitions to stride confidently back into school in September 1958 were dampened by the changes awaiting us. The Adams Street wing had been extended. Class periods were now to be an unbearable 55 minutes long, and we all mourned the elimination of the activity period. However, we now felt as if we were more a part of the school.

We began class business by conducting officer elections. Frank Duffina was elected president, Jon Meads, vice president, with Barbara Lynch and Diana Imbimbo being reelected secretary and treasurer, respectively. Celia Spear, Marie Quinlan, and Claire Graham represented us on the Student Council.

On December 23, 1958, our class held its first dance, the "Candy Cane Ball" in the gymnasium gaily decked in red and green with a Christmas tree center piece. After the dance the refreshment committee breathed a sigh of relief because Jon Meads had not made good his threat to bring some of his repulsive looking home-made cupcakes for refreshments. Everyone had fun, especially those who discovered the mistletoe on the basketball hoops.

Barbara Lynch and Arthur Hall were elected the most popular Sophomores.

The summer vacation all too quickly passed into autumn and our Junior year, which began with some confusion because of the double sessions in the lower grades. Of course, the teachers were mixed up also. The double sessions ended in December and we adjusted ourselves to normalcy again.

Officer elections resulted in Alan Ford, president, and Robert Ahern, vice president. For the third year Barbara Lynch was to record the class minutes, and Diana Imbimbo had the arduous task of prying dues from her money-hoarding classmates. Therese Enos, Joan Currier, Marie Quinlan, and Joan Butt were our Student Council representatives.

November brought us our first dance of the year, a Thanksgiving dance entitled the "Plymouth Rock." Charlene Sullivan and Allen MacDonald were the King and Queen. Among the door prizes was a real door and cans of cranberry sauce labeled "Radioactive" and "Poison" in commemoration of the cranberry scare.

"The Class with Class" was chosen as our class title, much to the jealousy of the Seniors. We also held a contest to select a class motto. To the surprise of no one Jon Meads, who submitted ten-ninths of the entries, won with his motto, "The World Is Ours — To Improve."

On December 11, 1959, many of our class members participated in the Senior-sponsored "Evening at the United Nations" presented in the auditorium.

In February we joined with the Seniors to co-sponsor the "Hospital of Hearts" dance, which featured souvenir tickets in test tubes.

Alan Ford's speaking abilities resulted in his being deported from the country for a week. Because he won the Rotary Oratorical Contest, he was awarded a trip to Quebec during his April vacation. Nancy Cutter, with Joyce Walden as alternate, was selected the Girls' State representative. Peter Neilson was the Boys' State representative with Joseph Beaton as alternate.

The night of May 13, 1960, brought a most important event — the Junior - Senior Prom, "Tropicana." An Everglades setting was created in the gymnasium with cloth material replacing the usual crepe paper to form the roof and walls. Janet Small was the Queen, and her attendants were Geraldine Brown, Carol Grey, Dorothy DeGrasse, Elaine Laurud, and Lorraine Matthews.

On Monday, May 23, we initiated the first Junior Week ever to be held in the high school with the "Parents' Night Banquet." We brought our parents to a delicious turkey dinner in the cafeteria served by the Sophomore girls. Mrs. Kenneth Wilson was our guest speaker. At the conclusion of the meal certificates of merit were awarded to the students who had achieved the highest marks in each individual class.

May 24 was Dress-up Day. The next day after-school movies were shown in the cafeteria followed by a Coke party.

On Fridays, May 27 and June 3, our class presented a variety show, the "Junior Jamboree." The singing, dancing, and crazy commercials displayed the many talented members of our class. Do you remember the fun when Harry Waterhouse, running up and down the aisles of the auditorium in his "Calypso Cutie" costume, kissed Mr. McMahon? The profits of Junior Week gave us the richest treasury yet to be possessed by a Junior class.

The Seniors voted Barbara Lynch and James Rooney as the most popular Juniors.

When we reentered school for our final year on September 7, 1960, we at once became infected with an incurable attack of Senioritis. We chose officers for the last time with Jon Meads, president, and George Szadis, vice president; our permanent office-holders, Barbara and Diana, were again reelected. Seniors on the Student Council included Dave Huston, president; Joan Butt, vice president; Marie Quinlan, secretary; Barbara Bishop, treasurer; and Paul Ballou.

We immediately began work on our class dance, the "Zombie Jamboree," held on October 27. The gymnasium, renamed the "Old Graveyard," was beautifully decorated in magenta, turquoise, and white. The walls were brightened by murals and a gold spider web. Three large papier-mache masks hung suspended as the centerpiece. The cafeteria was converted into a corpse-haunted "Chamber of Horrors" open to girls only.

On Thanksgiving eve the Seniors joined with the Boosters Club to hold the traditional torch light parade and rally. Barbara Bishop, dressed up as our wild cat mascot in a leopard skin cat costume, nearly shivered herself into a case of pneumonia riding on top of the fire engine in the parade. The Seniors could easily be recognized at the football game by the wildly decorated hats they were wearing. Great was our joy when we saw Tewksbury defeated 14-6 on our own field.

Fay Waterman was chosen to be our representative at the State House on Student Government Day. Carlton Eddy won the Rotary Oratorical Contest and visited Quebec. The fact that the trip was to be made by plane no doubt spurred him on to flights of oratory which would have caused Patrick Henry to doff his hat in tribute.

The funniest event of the year was undoubtedly the Donkey Ball on March 3. The brave boys and girls of our class played basketball on donkeys to a sell-out audience in the gymnasium. There were few baskets, but many bruises and laughs.

Culture flourished in our school as many Senior boys became interested in singing. They formed a choir and could be heard daily in the cafeteria yodeling "Happy Birthday" to Loyd

Carney.

On April 7 and 8, 1961, the Seniors brought the magic of the theater to Wilmington High when they presented the class play "Harvey," directed by Mr. Grant. How we laughed when Regina Donovan staggered on stage after Jon Meads had thrown her into the hydrotub. Harvey, the six foot, one and one-half inch rabbit, will forever be an honorary member of our class.

We sponsored a barn dance on April 14 open to Senior couples and invited couples only. The girls treated the boys to box lunches.

We all felt the nearness of school's end when we had the pleasure of missing classes to begin graduation practice.

The biggest social event of our high school life was the Senior Prom, "Moonlight Cotillion." It was the first prom to be presented by just the Seniors themselves. The gymnasium was transformed into "Magnolia Manor" for the evening. The Manor was divided into two sections: a patio with the tables and a lawn area for dancing. The color scheme was pink, white, green, and midnight blue. A sixty-foot mural designed by Linda Calhoun covered the far wall of the dance floor. Hundreds of artificial flowers created by the girls in the Senior activity room bloomed profusely. Fay Waterman reigned radiantly as our Queen with Mary Quandt, Dorothy DeGrasse, Barbara Gurski, Barbara Sullivan, Joan McCormick, and Maureen Charron as her attendants.

May 19 also marked the leaving of many commercial students for jobs. The introduction of moving through the corridors single file made the remaining Seniors only more thankful to finally leave on June 2. The only Seniors still in school were co-editors Linda Calhoun and Paul Ballou and the other members of the ulcer-ridden yearbook staff.

Our class banquet took place on Tuesday evening, June 6, in the cafeteria with George Szadis as master of ceremonies. We raised our voices in a final "Happy Birthday" to Loyd Carney. Professor Carl Gubellini of Northeastern University was our guest speaker. At the conclusion of the meal we held our last class meeting.

On Sunday afternoon, June 12, we, the Senior class of 1961, received our diplomas. Now that we have graduated we would like to thank our parents, teachers, and advisors through whose help and sacrifice we are prepared to leave Wilmington High School with many wonderful memories to face the future with courage and knowledge and to contribute usefully to society.

Class Will

THERESE ENOS

We, the class of 1961 of Wilmington High School, being of sound mind, do hereby declare this to be our Last Will and Testament and bequeath the following to the members of the faculty and to the underclassmen:

To the FACULTY we leave our heartfelt appreciation for all they've done for us during our four years in W. H. S.

To MR. SABA we leave one slightly used Kennedy hat and a ticket to all future presidential inaugurations.

To MISS BROWN we leave our gratitude for the giving of her time and artistic talents.

To MR. KELLEY we leave our sincerest thanks for his willingness to help us and work with us when we needed him most.

To MR. GRANT we leave our congratulations and our thanks for his excellent direction of our class play.

To MR. SMITH we leave a break in the P. A. system, an easy chair, a hassock to rest his weary feet, and our many thanks for all his help and hard work.

To the JUNIORS we leave our fondest wishes for a happy and successful Senior year.

To the SOPHOMORES we leave the greatest years of their lives and hope that they make the best of them.

To the FRESHMEN we leave all our happy memories of W. H. S.

JOE BOUDREAU leaves his slide rule to Mr. Kelley so that he may find the log of 763 and a high-chair to the future physics classes.

CAROL LETELLIER leaves so that Mr. Grant may eat his peanut butter and jelly sandwiches in secrecy.

JUDITH CONDREY leaves ear plugs to Mr. Gallucci's history classes.

FRANK DUFFINA leaves all his undone homework assignments.

LINDA CALHOUN leaves a note of gratitude to Mr. Kelley and his marvelous laugh.

BEVERLY GARRETT leaves Miss Marland's English class to her sister Judy.

CHARLES GRAHAM leaves his "Casanova Technique" to future members of the Lonely Hearts Club.

DAVID HUSTON leaves to the class of '63, three kanifflas, two doynkas and one bazunt.

MARION HALPIN leaves her number 13 to Judy, her scoring ability to Charlene and Susie, and her heart to Mr. Kelley.

MAUREEN CHARRON leaves her frankness to anyone who doesn't want to be liked.

VALERIE ALDEN leaves her English books to anyone who will relieve her of them.

ELAINE NATOLI leaves Mr. Sullivan a year's supply of gum.

JEAN DEANGELIS leaves Mr. Driscoll a book entitled "How to Sing in Ten Easy Lessons."

CAROL SCANLON leaves the nutty clocks, boring classes and tons of homework to all the poor seniors-to-be and also thanks heaven she leaves permanently.

ISABEL BERRY leaves her gym suit to her younger sister Linda.

JOYCE WALDEN and CAROL SCHIAVONE leave together — gladly.

JOAN BUTT leaves her cheerleading megaphone to Judy Doucette.

JOE BEATON bequeaths his superior mentality, phenomenal athletic prowess and humble modesty to the higher echelons of the succeeding class.

ROSE DUKUS leaves the notices to be typed by the Juniors.

JUDY MACKEY leaves — quickly.

PHIL SWEET leaves a book entitled "How to Gain Weight" to next year's track team.

FRANK MULHOLLAND leaves the Inner Sanctum to Joe Harrington.

BILL WYBERT leaves "brother Ron" to take up where he left off.

Pat Traill would like to leave all the homework assignments that she owes to Mr. Kelley and Mr. Cogan, but she'd never finish them in time.

Harry Waterhouse leaves to the class of 1962 his teachers.

George Twohig leaves to Dennis DeLucia a set of crib sheets and a pair of very small rubbers.

Susan Whitney leaves all her books to the future Seniors.

Wally Rich and Irene Ross leave together so future Seniors may share locker 259.

Beverly McGuinness leaves all her memories of good old W. H. S.

Celia Spear leaves the joy to next year's first engaged Senior.

Barbara Sullivan leaves the headache of the registers to Mr. Driscoll and four of next year's Seniors.

Mike Stanley leaves about 1712 missing homework assignments to anyone foolish enough to try to figure out where they are.

James Rexford leaves his brain for experimental purposes.

Mary Quandt leaves all her bruises and broken bones to the future athletes of W. H. S.

Jimmy Rooney leaves to Frank Munroe all the seventh grade girls and a bottle of peroxide to change the color of his hair.

Rose Polvere, Barbara Smith, Ruthann Spaulding and Anne Marie Volpe leave the first, second, third, and fourth seats respectively in "Murderer's Row" to Mr. Grant's future English classes.

Pat Phillips leaves her pink driver's license to Mr. Desmond.

Gail Parziale leaves Mr. Beaton a few headaches as memories from history class.

Thomas Morash leaves to the underclassmen W. H. S., room 207, a book, homework, study, teachers, and the cafeteria food.

Gail Nardone leaves at last—with pleasure.

James Melzar leaves his dancing shoes to all the wallflowers.

Jon Meads leaves his vaulting pole to Dave Setterbo with a warning that it might serve as a lightning rod in a thunder storm.

Mary McLaughlin leaves her friends to get married.

Brenda McKelvey leaves all her happy days and memories at W. H. S.

Bob McCue leaves a foolproof absence excuse for the first day of fishing season.

Joan McCormick leaves her sincerest wishes for happiness to all the Juniors.

Bob Maloney leaves his ability to pass Mr. Kelley's courses after he was indirectly told that he wouldn't pass.

Bob Gage leaves his initials in all the basements.

Dolly Gagnon leaves her absentees to anyone who can afford them.

Claire Graham leaves Fang, her pet vampire bat, to Craig Sheerin.

Diana Imbimbo leaves relieved.

Eleanor Kemp leaves her position as basketball center-guard to Eileen Tupper and B. J. MacDonald.

Barbara Lynch leaves to join the Metropolitan Opera.

Donna Lee, Susan Lippert, Jayne MacMelville, and Joyce McAndrew leave their unused U. S. History books with a sigh of relief.

Alan Ford leaves to the underclassmen a cashier's check for one million dollars buried somewhere within the foundation of W. H. S., one keg of dynamite, one hundred picks and shovels, and the best of luck.

Martha Elwell leaves her tremendous school spirit.

Carlton Eddy leaves to those highly interested in aviation, the anguish he gets when a plane goes over and he can't see it.

Roseann Eaton leaves Mr. Keady unwillingly.

Regina Donovan leaves her diploma to Mr. Desmond; he deserved it! ! !

Elaine DiBella leaves her collection of forged travel permits to Eileen Tupper.

Loyd Carney leaves his one "L" to Mr. Kelley and his extra birthdays to anyone who wants them.

Dave Cronin leaves his curly hair to anyone who cannot afford spoolies.

Joan Currier leaves many happy memories at W. H. S. to the up and coming Seniors.

Nancy Cutter leaves her bongo drums to Danny Gouvea with the condition that he'll play them only with his feet.

Richard Damelio leaves a meatball sandwich in locker 265.

Judi Carleton leaves her baton to Joanne Baker and her natural blonde hair to her sister Sheila.

Dottie DeGrasse leaves one gym blouse in three tidy pieces to be framed and hung in the high school foyer.

Eleanor Viera leaves her one play line to next year's play cast maid.

Mabel Carbone leaves her typing and shorthand experience to her sister Peggy.

Virginia Blackburn leaves her ability to "skip" those miserable study halls down at the snake pit to Gayle White.

Barbara Bishop leaves the bookkeeping to next year's Student Council treasurer.

Joyce Barnaby leaves her personality and ability to one of next year's fortunate Seniors.

Bob Ahern leaves to the future Seniors the best of luck.

Sandra Adams leaves her English compositions and term papers to some poor Senior of next year.

Dixon Knight leaves to the regret of Mr. Kelley and the track team.

Bob Jaquith leaves his beloved gym towel to the custodians so that they will be able to drive the rats from the cellar.

Paul Lynch leaves his cheerfulness and good humor to some underclassman who can use it.

Larry Carr leaves his neat appearance and his Florida vacations to his sister Marilyn.

Brian McMahon leaves his place in the lunch line to anyone who has the gall to "cut."

Paul Ballou leaves his experience to his brother Bill.

Marie Quinlan leaves to next year's students all the study periods they can find.

Sheila Harrington leaves a very small world for a much larger one.

Eddie Casey leaves his football duties to Eddie Woods.

Howard Britt leaves his many fond memories and happy occasions to any Junior who wishes to bring them into reality.

Joanne Shelley leaves to make room for her brothers who she hopes will stay.

We leave to the incoming classes all our successes but none of our failures; all our joys but none of our sorrows; all our dreams but none of our frustrations; and all our hopes but none of our fears.

Class Prophecy

JOYCE WALDEN

As I sat before the fire, watching the flames dart out, taking many shapes before me, I sighed and breathed in deeply, inhaling the pungent scent of the burning embers — my view became hazy. As my vision cleared, I saw the future unroll before my eyes. I saw a great city before me, skyscrapers reaching for the sky, swarms of people bustling about — the huge city of Wilmington, metropolis of Massachusetts. Out of the sea of people I saw a familiar face as it peered out from under an armful of bundles. Suddenly a great commotion—bundles were scattered over the pavement! There was DIANA IMBIMBO snapping furiously at PAUL BALLOU, who was stammering apologies for accidently getting in her path. Scooping up her bundles, she approached the lobby of the exclusive Hotel Huntly and tipped ROBERT LANE, the doorman. MARTHA ELWELL, hatcheck girl, graciously took her bundles and mink stole. She entered the lounge and was greeted enthusiastically by her fellow actors and actresses, DOLLY GAGNON, HOWARD BRITT, FAY WATERMAN, BARBARA LYNCH, DOROTHY DEGRASSE, REGINA DONOVAN, BOB AHERN, and JOE BEATON, currently appearing at the Wilmington Playhouse in the great play HARVEY, under the direction of JEAN DEANGELIS and produced by ROSE DUKUS.

An announcement over the P. A. quiets the conversation as the deep voice of hotel manager FRANK DUFFINA announces the first man to set foot on the moon has just returned — JON MEADS! The room faded from my view. A spaceship landed and as JON stepped out he was surrounded by reporters JIMMY ROONEY, PAUL LYNCH, and JOHN MARTINS. Mayor GREGORY PHILLIPS extended his hand in congratulations as police guards DAVID DEMING, RICHARD DAMELIO, WAYNE EATON, and JACK CUSHING quietly stood by. JON explains that his trip would have been impossible without the assistance of the radiomen, DAVID CRONIN, WALLY RICH and CHARLES GRAHAM and engineers ROBERT GAGE, LOYD CARNEY and GEORGE TWOHIG. The spaceship had been designed by RICHARD WATERS and MIKE STROW, based upon the intricate mathematical conclusions made by ALAN FORD, PETER NEILSON, and CARLTON EDDY.

My vision is carried once more into the busy street; namely, the corner of Church and Main. To my left is BAILEY'S Hardware Store. ANNE VOLPE is still the most efficient secretary at Sea Craft Industries which has been considerably enlarged under the management of DAVE HUSTON, assisted by EDDIE CASEY. The office has expanded and now includes all of Murderer's Row — BARBARA SULLIVAN, BARBARA SMITH, RUTHANN SPAULDING, and ROSE POLVERE. Poor Dave! BETTY RANKIN and MARIE QUINLAN are top dental assistants to the nation's foremost dentist, GEORGE SZADIS. There is a new attraction at MERRI-MAC-MAHON'S CLEANERS; CAROL SCHIAVONE at her honky-tonk piano entertains the customers while presser LARRY CARR unhurriedly puts the finishing touches on MIKE WEINBERG'S suit. To my right is the post office, managed by ROBERT BRYANT. Housewives ELAINE NATOLI, CELIA SPEAR, MARY-HI MCLAUGHLIN, JEAN SIDELINKER, MERCY STROW, GAYLE NARDONE, GAIL PARZIALE, and KAREN SCOTT idly discuss the town gossip — Attorney at law PATRICIA TRAILL, prosecutor in the suit of ELAINE DIBELLA versus RONALD OUTRIDGE for breach of promise. Cole's Drugstore is buzzing as models Lauren Smith, Barbara Bishop, Nancy Cutter and Mabel Carbone discuss the latest hair styles created by Joan Currier, Maureen Doyle, Isabel Berry, Joan McCormick and Judy Sprague. Bob Maloney, clerk, insists on adding his thoughts on the subject. Further down Church Street that wonderful institution, the school, appears. Charles Sullivan, a star janitor, hoists up the flag as principal Charles Ingalls pokes his head from his office window and admonishes Judy Condrey, Claire Graham, Roseann Eaton, Jimmy Rexford, Bev Garrett, Jim Melzar, and Therese Enos as they arrive late. They blame taxi-driver Speedy Wybert as the cause of their delay. Speedy's attention was diverted to Joan Butt as she crossed the street to the City Hall to meet her secretary friends Joanne Shelly, Margaret Martini, Joyce McAndrew, Bev McGuinness, Irene Flynn, Ginny Blackburn, Susan Whitney, and Diane White. The result was a head-on collision. Waterhouse's Garage was called and Michael Stanley, Bill Kennedy, and star mechanics rushed to the rescue. Speedy's passengers, Mary Quandt, Marion Halpin, Loretta Dawson, and Carol Crispo were late for their World Series softball game at Boudreau's Stadium.

I sigh once more — in the distance a bell tolls, louder, nearer — gradually through the mist the spires of a church appear. Here in this quiet atmosphere memories flood my mind as I recall old friends and old times and I wonder what the future has brought to them.

Yes, this world is ours — to improve. That is certainly what we will do.
